

Project Geologist Exploration - FIFO

Kasbah Resources Limited – is an ASX listed company (ASX: KAS) exploring in Morocco.

The company listed in April 2007, established an exploration base near Meknes and commenced drilling in November 2007. The large Achmmach Tin Project is Kasbah's prime focus with a view to full development of this substantial hard rock project. Exploration is also set to commence at the company's Tamlalt Gold Project in Eastern Morocco and additional new project opportunities are being reviewed.

The company is now seeking to appoint an appropriately qualified Project Geologist reporting to the Exploration Manager.

The Role

This is a new position. The Project Geologist will assist in planning and coordinating all Moroccan exploration activities for Kasbah and support the Exploration Manager. This is a key role and the prime function is to manage our field work so as to deliver the Exploration objectives within the allocated budget.

As a part of this role, you will be expected to liaise with contractors and employees to ensure the delivery of the Exploration objectives. Kasbah is committed to a safe working environment and you will implement policies and standards of safe practice throughout your responsibilities.

You will analyse results and prepare recommendations, with the Exploration Manager.

Key Skills and Experience

- A degree in geology;
- At least 5 years relevant experience, particularly gold/base metals exploration
- Drillhole planning, supervision of drill crews and field assistants
- High degree of competency in core geological skills; mapping, sampling, drillhole logging (diamond and RC) with more than 5,000 metres diamond core logging experience essential, data collection and collation
- Effective verbal and written communications including mentoring less experienced geological staff
- Computer literate, experience with mining/GIS/database software, ArcGis, GBIS and Micromine desirable
- Technical report writing (English), budget preparation.
- Working knowledge of French is an advantage
- An awareness of environmental and safety management systems

Kasbah's Expectation

The Project Geologist role is a new, key position within Kasbah and the individual will be expected to be flexible and proactive in all areas. The individual must be determined to grow with the Kasbah business in this region and be clearly focussed on delivering Kasbah's objectives.

Financial Package

An excellent salary and work schedule will be negotiated with the successful candidate.

Ready join Kasbah?

If you have the experience and background, please forward resume and other relevant information in a cover letter by email to:

mraph@kasbahresources.com - Marked "Project Geologist Exploration".